LEAD PENCIL JOTTINGS.

Memoiranda Made in the Reporter's Wanderings.

Local Sinters.

—Our ice dealers have commenced delivering ice to their customers.

—The old City Council will have but one more regular meeting—the first Monday in May.

—A proposition to extend the city limits of Poplar Bluff was voted on at the recent city election and it was voted down by a large majority.

—People who are contemplating the purchase of building lots in this city had better not delay the latest two long. Real estate is advancing in price right along.

—We have a collar factory in this city that sells all the collars it can turn out to retail dealers. The factory is run by expert collar makers and all the collars turned out are hand-made and therefore far superior to the machine-made.

—The Lecture Bureau have again arranged for Col. Copeland to lecture, and this time he promises to come and meet his appointment. The time has not yet been agreed upon, but it will be some time in May.

—We hear no talk about cities of the third class since the election. Everybody seems to be contented with our present charter. It is as good as the best, if not better.

—Morley is to have a bank, and Mr. Franklin, of the Jackson Bank, will be one of the stockholders. This will be one of the stockholders. This will be one of the stockholders.

—The eighth wonder of the world just discovered—Chenham's Tasteless Chili Tonic. It will prove a boon to humanity. It is the same tonic as that heretofore sold under the same name except that it is tasteless. Guaranteed to cure.

—St. Henry Smith, of this city has invented and constructed a new printing machine which he claims will do away with the old Washington hand press.

—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of H. P. Peironnet, the enterprising Main street merchant, which will be found elsewhere in this paper. Mr. Peironnet is surely offering the public some bargains in the shoe line. His shoe department is complete.

—The gentlemen who drafted a well for P. A. Kase in this city a few weeks ago completed a well last week for the Benton Mills at Benton. They drilled to the depth of one hundred and seventy-five feet and struck water sufficient to supply the whole town.

—Why search for diamonds when a little Chenham's Tasteless Chili Tonic will cure your ailments? It is a tonic that will cure your ailments.

—We understand that the proposed new applicants for City Boss this week, Mike Higgins will have to watch his corners or somebody will get his scalp.

—There are some men in this city who, in their own estimation, are very good men, and when opportunity occurs they are always ready to sever themselves from the world.

—The Western Union Telegraph office has been moved from the "Star" building to the new building on the corner of Main and Third streets.

—Bliss' men began work on R. E. Spaul's house Tuesday morning. It will take them about two weeks to complete the brick work. When completed Mr. Spaul will have one of the finest dwellings on Spanish street.

—Myrtle Cure for rheumatism and neuralgia, indigestion, etc., in 1 to 3 days, by removing the cause from the system. It will cure all the ailments caused by rheumatism, indigestion, etc., in 1 to 3 days.

—Charles Vogelzang, agent for the "Life of General Sherman," delivered quite a number of books to subscribers in this city this week. The old veterans who marched to the sea with Sherman nearly all subscribed for the books.

—Mr. Charles Ganz sold his little farm near the first toll gate on the Jackson road last Tuesday to Charles Northrup, for two thousand one hundred and fifty dollars. The land is only a mile from the city and the purchaser got a cheap piece of property.

—All city taxes are now due and the collector is at his office every day for the purpose of collecting the same. Those who do not wish to be returned delinquent should go to the court house and pay at once. Those who do not pay before the 1st day of May will be returned delinquent.

—The malarious summer will soon be here. Buy a bottle of Chenham's Tasteless Chili Tonic and fortify yourself against chills and fever. It is absolutely guaranteed to cure and pleasant to take.

—The merchant who advertises in the Democrat reaches a larger number of people than he could reach through any other paper in the county, and as a matter of course he sells more goods than the merchant who advertises his business in the other papers.

THE GRAND ARMY.

An Address Delivered by Dr. G. W. Travis.

By request of a large number of the members of Just Post G. A. R. of this city, we publish the following address which was delivered before Just Post on the occasion of the celebration of the Silver Anniversary, on the 6th of April, 1919.

—Commander and comrades:

As an organization, this its silver anniversary, the G. A. R. has much to be proud of. Twenty-five years old this night; nearly, or quite half a million members of brave men and true upon its muster rolls, are names as enduring as marble. Their names and deeds are the brightest on history's pages. From Presidents of the United States, the highest rank of army and navy, to humblest private who ever wore the blue, in one common comradeship, all bound by patriotic love of country, war-shippers at one shrine: Freedom and the right.

—The objects of our order, its aims and purpose, differ much from others. Its great central object is to keep burning the fires of patriotic zeal upon freedom's altar; to foster a warm fraternal feeling, a comradeship begotten by trial, hardship and privation. Therefore to become a member of the G. A. R. certain preparations and qualifications are required. Statesmanship alone, the millionaire, the most exalted position, or the most commonest talent will never carry one past our outer vestibles.

From 1861 to 1865 the school of preparation was in operation; over a quarter of a century ago by weary marches, in sunshine and storm, heat and cold, amid cannon roar, storms of shot and shell, and leaden hail, we were prepared. Our object was the grandest that ever inspired men to daring deeds. Not for conquest, but for subjugation, but for freedom and the right, the safety and purity of home.

Prior to this time liberty's temple was insecure, its portals were narrow, we were the workmen who rebuilt the temple, we widened its gates, strengthened its pillars, arches and dome, the great key stones were cemented with the best blood of earth. So ample now and secure is liberty's temple, that all the good of the world may enter in safety.

When this mighty work was done, each builder received his letters of credit, which is and has been his passport to the G. A. R. Others followed as hard as we, endured like hardships, privations and dangers, but a vast difference between them and us. We fought for good, they for evil; we to build up, they to tear down; we to save, they to destroy; we to unite, they to sever. When the work was ended they had no token, while we had the greatest, mightiest and most respected of the world over. The stars and stripes, the flag representing a righteous union of the states in one indivisible union of indivisible states. Thus we comrades being thoroughly prepared for the proper and fitting use of the sword, we have an organization where all rank is ignored; where a common rank is to meet and share and share alike, and sorrow, shared by bonds, such as only suffering, shared by bonds, such as only suffering, shared by bonds, such as only suffering.

—Frank E. Barnough returned home from Charleston Wednesday evening where he had been attending court.

—Thurs. Albert while working from a plank in the ceiling of his father's buggy house Wednesday evening accidentally fell and with him a plank fell and striking him in the mouth, knocked out three of his front teeth. Harry was worse scared than hurt, for Dr. Ruff replaced the teeth with out any trouble, and they will soon be as good and perfect as ever.

—Following is the list of road overseers selected at the last election in Cape Girardeau county for the ensuing year:

—A Big Beer Brewery.

St. Louis capitalists are interesting themselves in this city. They want to establish here a beer brewery to make all the beer used in this section of the State. They claim that there is not another city in the country where so much beer is consumed that has not a first-class brewery, and they want to raise a stock company to start a big brewery here. They seem to be confident that a big brewery here would pay and they are willing to back their judgment by taking one-half the stock in such an enterprise.
